Large Corporate Restructuring

Complex Group Reorganisation & Strategic Planning

What Is Large Corporate Restructuring?

A large corporate restructuring involves reorganising a group of companies, assets, and activities, often across multiple entities and jurisdictions.

This can include:

- Establishing or reorganising holding company structures
- Group reorganisations
- Demergers and reconstructions
- Separation of divisions into standalone entities
- Transfer of trades, assets, and financing arrangements within the group
- Pre-sale or pre-investment structuring.
- Efficient employee incentives/participation for retention of talent and key employees

These projects are typically driven by strategic objectives such as disposal, investment, succession, or risk management.

Key Potential Benefits

1. Group-Wide Tax Optimisation

Align profits, financing, and asset ownership across the group to improve overall tax efficiency.

2. Asset Protection & Ringfencing

Isolate key assets (e.g. property portfolios, IP, subsidiaries) to protect value and manage risk.

3. Transaction Readiness

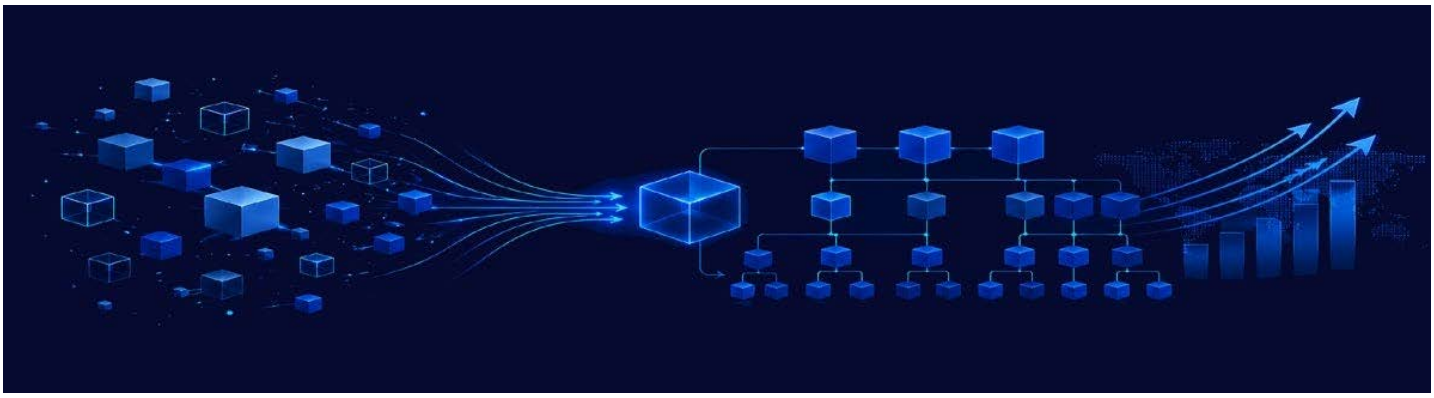

Prepare the group for sale, investment, or demerger, ensuring structures are commercially and legally robust.

4. Improved Financing & Banking Position

Create a structure that is clearer and more attractive to lenders and institutional investors.

5. Strategic Flexibility

Enable partial disposals, joint ventures, or future restructuring without disrupting core operations.
